Lent and Igorot religious holidays

By Phyllis P. Pineda

AS EARTH celebrated the world, so it is with life in the Philippines. As Lent is celebrated, so too are the religious holidays of the Igorot people.

The Igorot people, who are the indigenous people of the Cordillera region, have a rich cultural heritage. Their religious holidays are celebrated with great fervor and devotion. The Igorot people have a deep faith in their gods and goddesses, and their religious holidays are a reflection of their beliefs.

QHA TRENT HOSPITAL & CLINIC ACCREDITATION

MARCH 2011

QHA TRENT, the independent holistic clinical accreditation scheme for hospitals and clinics based in Sheffield in the United Kingdom, have recently completed the survey of Cebu Doctors' University Hospital, a leading private sector hospital in the Philippines, and the hospital has been successful in obtaining accreditation.

Unlike ISO and industry-based standards which some hospitals and clinics make use of, QHA Trent is a clinically-based scheme which puts patients first and looks at things from the patients' point of view. Survey teams always include a senior doctor from the UK, and it is solidly based on the well-known British system of NHS clinical governance which is one of the most tried and trusted systems for delivering safe healthcare in the world.

Cebu Doctors' University Hospital is the first university hospital in the country and Southeast Asia to become independently accredited by QHA Trent from the United Kingdom. Allied to their success in the Philippines' own national accreditation scheme, this definitely represents a great achievement by a very forward looking hospital, and congratulations are in order.

The diagram shows a rectangular domain with a central square hole. The domain is divided into four quadrants by a horizontal line (y=0) and a vertical line (x=0). The top-left quadrant is labeled 'a', the top-right 'b', the bottom-left 'c', and the bottom-right 'd'. The central square hole is labeled 'e'. The domain is bounded by x=0, x=L, y=0, and y=H. The hole is bounded by x=a, x=b, y=c, and y=d.

LIVE BEAUTIFULLY WITH WATSON'S

SUMMER'S SKIN CARE EVENT

Summer is all about the sun, the sea, and great times outdoors. But sun damage, the harmful weather, chlorine, and sea water can leave your hair dull, dry, greasy, and itchy. Hair damage can be permanent, and restoring it to its original healthy state can be quite a task. The good news is that you can keep your hair healthy and shiny during all the beach season with proper knowledge and care.

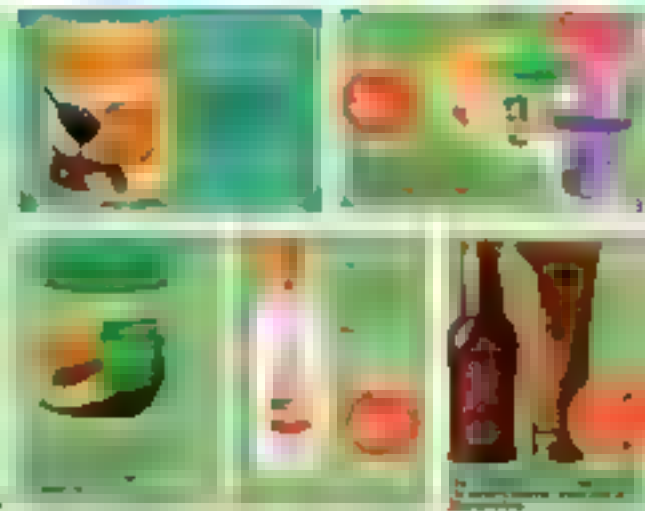

CLEANSE AND PROTECT

It's time to get your hair ready for the summer. The first step is to cleanse and protect your hair. Use a gentle shampoo to remove any buildup and a conditioner to keep your hair hydrated. Don't forget to use a leave-in conditioner to keep your hair protected throughout the day.

REPAIR AND REVEAL

After cleansing and protecting your hair, it's time to repair and reveal its natural beauty. Use a hair mask or treatment to deep condition your hair and a hair oil to add shine and protect your hair from the sun.
